

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to composition and methods for the treatment of Gram-positive bacterial infections. More specifically, the invention describes the use of ATP synthase and vacuolar ATPase inhibitors for the treatment of mycobacterial infections particularly tuberculosis.